

THE HOUSE OF THE MARSH, "NURSE REVEL'S MISTAKE," ETC.

—BY—
FLORENCE WARDEN.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Mrs. Plunket and Miss Ernestine Halliday of Chicago share a tiny flat at the top of one of the big new houses in the heart of the city. Mrs. Plunket is a good-looking young woman, Dr. Drake, a physician, is staying with them to serve as an escort. Miss Halliday does not conceal her tender regard for the doctor. Imagine her feelings when she discovers that he is more than interested in a beautiful woman known as La Belle Zaida, who lives in the Hausmann building.

Mrs. Plunket's flat is at the back of the fourth floor, overlooking a narrow street at the back of the new houses. A broad balcony runs from the front to the end of the suite of rooms, and is divided from the balconies of the neighbors on each side by a high wall of zinc. Through an opening in the zinc Drake has his first view of the woman who was to exercise such influence over him.

La Belle Zaida's beauty is the talk of Paris, and the mystery that surrounds her has excited the intense curiosity.

Of her history, it is known only that she lives at M. Bertin's, that she is an expert in palmistry, and that she seems at will, to be a French noblewoman or a French peasant. Drake spoke to her one evening on the balcony when she was weeping, the result of harsh treatment from Bertin. But she made no reply.

Who was she?

What was the relationship between her and the doctor? He hurried forward two or three steps, his passion, which he had supposed dead, flaring suddenly up within him to fierce life.

Then he struggled with himself, and stopped. No, no! he said to himself. I will not go to the doctor, and offer to work the life and to stand by her side for only those few moments, he would have to find her in the last 10 days would be undone; he would be at M. Bertin's mercy.

By a great effort he turned his back upon inclination, and returned to the balcony. Then he noticed for the first time a woman who had been in the room, and who was looking at him with a look which was just driving off. No doubt it had brought the young lady's name.

Walter looked at her with a look of excitement into which he had been thrown by the girl's eyes.

After a short, sharp look at the girl, Walter strode he had intended, he went back to his room, and he was not to be seen again. He was not to be seen again. He was not to be seen again.

PUSHING A JUNK CART.

A Globe Man's Experience for a Day.

His Tender Heart Loses Him Money With a Little Girl.

While Two Wicked South End Boys Work a "Ringer" on Him.

"Any old rags, old copper, old iron, old bottles, old bones?"

It was the constant repetition of that well-known cry for about 10 hours of one day last week that ruined my melodious baritone voice.

The Globe wanted to find out something about the junk business; how much it was worth, and how it was run. I was to be a ringer for a junk dealer.

"Not quite so bad as that, I hope," I ventured, and the man who was to be a ringer for a junk dealer.

The Most Costly Painting in the World

Postmaster-General Wainman Paid over $100,000.00 for the painting.

"CHRIST BEFORE PILATE."

Millions of people in this country and Europe have travelled many miles and paid an admission fee to get a view of this remarkable painting, and it has been the topic of conversation in hundreds of thousands of homes for many months. It is pronounced by critics to be the most notable picture ever brought to America, a masterpiece, truly grand and wonderful as a work of art beyond the power of language to describe, and worth a thousand sermons as a moral lesson.

All the Colors in the Original Painting are Faithfully Reproduced in this Picture. Months of patient, earnest labor were required to engrave the stones and produce such a picture as we furnish, yet the artist was instructed to be faithful and give the finest possible results, regardless of expense, and they knew full well that a common-place picture would not be accepted, therefore the artist has made a picture that is accurate and faithful in every detail, and has furnished an engraving picture.

THE LADIES HOME COMPANION

Has Now Over Half a Million Readers

It is published twice a month, has 16 large pages, and is finely printed on cream-colored paper, illustrated with many fine engravings. It is a Practical Household Journal of rare literary excellence, every page teeming with good things for mother and daughter. It is a repository of helpful advice for women in every sphere of life; in fact, all branches of household economy that can possibly come within the good housewife's province are ably treated under the following departments:

Practical Housekeeping, Decorations and Furnishings, Fashions, or What to Wear and How to Make It, Mother's Chat, Fancy Knitted Work, Children's Corner, Etiquette, Toilet Department, Etc., Etc., conducted by Eight Regular Editors and Scores of Eminent Writers.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PAINTING. The scene chosen for the painting is the "Judgment Hall" in the palace of Pilate, and the hour nearly in the morning. Around the Governor the priests are gathered, and the high priest, Caiaphas, is accusing Christ and demanding his death. The crowd and furious tumult is all alive with excitement. There is a mystery about the scene, the consciousness of power in his look and gesture, and something of dignity in the superb audacity with which he draws Pilate's attention to the execution of the mob. (Who is crying out "Crucify him"), as expressive of the national will which the Governor is bound to respect, at the same time insinuating that to let this man go will be treason to Caesar, as well as a violation of the Jewish law which demands the robber's death for "making him who is the Son of God." Pilate is yielding to the clamor, while his conscience, aided by his wife's message, warning him not to condemn that righteous man, is protesting in tones which make him tremble.

THE CENTRAL FIGURE. And the most impressive of all, is Christ himself, clad in white, with flowing hair and bound wrists. He stands alone, in the simple majesty of his own person, without sign or symbol, save his individual greatness. A heavenly submission is on his face.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A Syracuse Hotel Burned and Seven Lives Lost.

Race Troubles at New Orleans—Justice Miller's Death.

Brief Summary of Important Events at Home.

STRAUS, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The Leland House, the most modern and finest apartment hotel in Central New York, was destroyed by fire which broke out at 12.45 this morning, and seven persons met death and about 20 were injured.

When the flames began to sweep through the hotel, Night Clerk Jones set the automatic fire-alarm bells ringing, but the rudely awakened guests could realize what was the matter the flames and smoke rushed through the halls, cutting off the means of escape.

Among the frightened women at the window was Annie Cummings, one of the servants. Her companions tried to dissuade her from jumping headlong to the street. The ladies were at work holding ladders willing hands held of the jumping net. The Cummings woman jumped with the evident intention of jumping in the net. In her descent she struck the wire, and her body bounded over and over, and she fell a bruised and mangled heap, seven feet from the net. Her death was instantaneous.

Miss Mary Ann, a widow, who lived in the north side of the building fell in, so rapid was the descent. In 15 minutes the centre of the east wall fell with a terrific crash. At 1.30 the west wall fell, and the building was a mass of bricks and rubble. The building was occupied by the Curtis Manufacturing Company, and Charles Curtis, president of the company, was killed.

The Leland Hotel was built about three years ago and cost $80,000. It was leased to the Curtis Manufacturing Company, and was occupied by the Curtis Manufacturing Company. The hotel, when 4500 invited guests were present.

One of the heroes of the fire was John C. Galt, of 180 State Street, who saved the life of Cora Tanner, the wife of the Col. W. H. Sinn, proprietor of the Brooklyn Times.

A wedding party of 12 had an experience they will not soon forget. They were quartered in the second and third floors of the hotel, and the first alarm awakened them, and they rushed into the corridors and down the stairs, and at a point where the stairs met the fire in there a minute, and were taken to the Vanderbilt House.

Another Hotel Fire.—About 5 o'clock it was discovered that the Globe Hotel was afire. Flames had started in the kitchen. The guests were called, but only a few responded, the fire being subdued in 15 minutes.

office at the Central station, which is on the corner of Common and Basin Sts. He had turned into the street when he was fired upon by a party of men who were concealed in the doorways.

He was wounded at the first fire, but as soon as he recovered from his surprise he fired back into the direction of his assailants. He died six hours later. The murder was by Italians, alleged to be the victims of the Sicilian Mafia.

The body of the late chief of police of New Orleans, David C. Hennessy, lay in state at City Hall Friday, and was viewed by thousands of people. The body was lying in state at City Hall Friday, and was viewed by thousands of people.

Mr. Harrison has accepted the presidency of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. William Wirt Henry, Virginia; Mrs. John Quincy Adams, Massachusetts; Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, New York, and Mrs. P. B. Porter, Kentucky, were elected vice-presidents.

The eligibility clause was amended so as to require applicants to trace their descent back to the soldier or statesman of the revolution to the mother that claimed him. The act was passed by the House of Representatives.

The action of the mayor and city council today in appointing a committee of safety of 50 citizens, to investigate the assassination of Chief of Police Hennessy and to take steps to suppress the Mafia and the vendetta, means that the matter is to be followed up until the murderers are brought to justice.

The police have struck a snag in the investigation of the Mafia. They have worked hard, they have arrested every Italian who could not account for himself on the night of the murder, but they have not been able to find any one who can be held responsible for the crime.

It was hoped at first that the entire Mafia conspiracy would be laid bare; now the Italian population has become as dumb as an oyster. Not a word can be got from any of the thousands of Italian immigrants.

The City Council met in extra session today on the special call of the mayor to consider the assassination of Chief Hennessy, and the Mafia. The mayor submitted a special message to the Council, in which he declared that the Mafia was a real and dangerous enemy of the city of New Orleans, and the authorities must at once take steps to suppress the Mafia.

The committee is a thoroughly representative body, and the mayor has appointed it to investigate the Mafia. The committee is a thoroughly representative body, and the mayor has appointed it to investigate the Mafia.

FOREIGN SUMMARY.

Irish Refugees the Heroes of the Hour in France.

The Famine—The Vatican and the Irish Priests.

Brief Summary of News from All Parts of the World.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon are undoubtedly the heroes of the hour in France. They have been interviewed by the representative of every journal in Paris, as well as by the correspondents of all the English papers.

Mr. O'Brien's views on the subject of the Prince of Wales' attitude toward the question are interesting, and were given to the editor of L'Espresso, who asked in which direction the Prince of Wales' attitude was leaning.

Mr. O'Brien was not taken, and could not openly take, our side, but I may tell you that if Parliament tomorrow adopted the law proposed by the Prince of Wales, it would be a great step forward.

Mr. O'Brien says he is a very popular man in the center, and has every reason to believe he is favorably disposed toward us.

How They Escaped.—In an interview Mr. Dillon said that, after the yacht on which he and Mr. O'Brien made their escape had been out two days, the supply of illuminating oil ran out, and in consequence it was impossible to light the yacht.
